

On Camp

“TUCKED AWAY IN NORTH WALES,
LAKE VYRNWY IS A GREAT GETAWAY
FOR A FOCUSED CAMP”

PHOTO: FOEL ORTHO FARMHOUSE

Lake Vyrnwy – ideal for putting in the mileage

1 – LAKE VYRNWY, WALES

Marcus Smith, former University of Bristol student rower, says: “At Bristol, we changed the location of our Easter training camp annually to prepare us for BUCS Regatta.

“Lake Vyrnwy, on the outskirts of Snowdonia in Wales, provides a beautiful retreat from the norms and responsibilities of day-to-day life. The accommodation is homely, the scenery is untouched, and the lake is ideal for putting in mileage on the water.”

Lake Vyrnwy is a great getaway for a focused camp. The reservoir was built to supply Liverpool with drinking water and the freshwater lake is 7.5km long and 4km wide. The water is often as flat as glass, although it can get choppy with windier conditions. There are very minimal facilities at the lake and boats must be left tied down on trestles.

WHERE TO GO ON TRAINING CAMP IN 2020? TOBY BRYANT OFFERS FIVE BUDGET OPTIONS IN THE UK

USP:

The stunning
Welsh
scenery

STAY AT FOEL ORTHO FARMHOUSE

Full of character, Foel Ortho Farmhouse is a home from home for up to 17 people.

The farmhouse offers Wi-Fi and all mod cons. After a tough day on camp, there is also plenty of opportunity to relax in the hot tub and sauna, as well as the possibility of treatment from local therapists.

HOW TO BOOK

Contact booking manager Susie via farmhouseinwales@gmail.com – prices start from £400 a night for 17 people. See more via www.bit.ly/foelorthofarmhouse

ANYTHING ELSE TO KNOW?

Foel Ortho's owners are musicians and have been known to play for the guests if they ask! ▶